Cora Voce - Music that speaks to the soul

Cora Voce is a Tacoma-based ensemble of about 40 singers dedicated to sharing and performing high-quality choral music. Our mission is: to inspire, enrich and educate.

Under the artistic direction of Randy Spitzer since 2006, Cora Voce presents thematic programs with a broad range of choral styles, periods and languages, both sacred and secular. Cora Voce also frequently commissions and premieres new music, some written/arranged by members of the choir.

“Besides performing high-quality choral music, our goal is to build community with our members, our audiences and our community stakeholders. We aim to present performances that inspire the soul, enrich the lives of our members and our audiences and educate young aspiring musicians.”

Randy Spitzer, Artistic Director

Annual Fundraising

For 2018-2019, over $10,000 in grants and scholarships have been awarded by Cora Voce to local school choir programs in Puyallup and Tacoma: Maplewood Elementary School, Spanaway Lake High School, and Clover Park High School. Two students at each high school will be selected to join Cora Voce as interns for one concert series during the 2018-2019 season. Each intern will receive a $500 college scholarship.

Last year, Aylene Junior High in Puyallup and Discovery Elementary in Gig Harbor each received $5,000 grants for their choir programs. The previous year, two South Kitsap schools, Sunnyslope Elementary and East Port Orchard Elementary, each received $4,500. And, the year before that, Vaughn Elementary in Gig Harbor received $7,000. Including scholarship awards, over the past decade the choir has given away more than $60,000 to benefit local music students.
